Re: Opioid Litigation Settlement Funds Reporting

The County of Carroll, New Hampshire was and is a qualifying subdivision in receipt of funds from opioid litigation. Prior to settlements, the County has maintained a long-standing relationship with organizations that support substance abuse, specifically in the area of opioid abuse.

The County is using the settlement funds to continue support to these organizations during a time of extreme budget demands and constraints. Currently, we have used all funds to support two organizations. A brief narrative of each organization is below.

White Horse Recovery

“White Horse Recovery is a 501c3 non-profit behavioral health center with locations in Ossipee, North Conway, and Littleton NH. We offer comprehensive secular and faith-based substance use disorder programs and mental health services for adults and families. We also offer ongoing recovery support programs to help adults through their recovery process. Our organization is based on Christian principles; we welcome everyone regardless of faith. White Horse meets everyone where they are along their journey, working with each individual to develop the most appropriate treatment program.”

Mount Washington Valley Recovery

“Mount Washington Valley Supports Recovery Coalition is a Non-Profit Recovery Community Organization. We are a recovery friendly workplace and have resources for anyone seeking a recovery path. MWV Supports Recovery was formed to assess the needs of the community, develop action plans to support, educate and empower our community and thus promote successful long-term recovery.

Our focus is on celebrating the recovery movement and breaking down the stigma and discrimination by creating a unified voice for positive change. Trained recovery coaches walk side by side with individuals and their families assisting with needed resources and support, and we are working with every possible sector in this community to bring recovery support programs to the valley. We are here to support advocacy through a broader stage and make continued services available to those struggling with substance use disorder.”

The County continues to budget appropriations to these organizations and has committed all opioid funds that were not previously used to support these organizations in future years until funds are exhausted.

Sincerely,

Terry McCarthy, Commissioner
