

For more than 40 years, the US Department of Health and Human Services, Health Resource and Services Administration (HRSA) supported Health Centers have provided comprehensive, culturally competent, quality primary health care services to medically underserved communities and vulnerable populations.

Health centers are community-based and patient-driven organizations that serve populations with limited access to health care. These include low-income populations, the uninsured, those with limited English proficiency, migrant and seasonal farmworkers, individuals and families experiencing homelessness, and those living in public housing.

- Grant-Supported Federally Qualified Health Centers are public and private non-profit health care organizations that meet certain criteria under the Medicare and Medicaid Programs (respectively, Sections 1861(aa)(4) and 1905(l)(2)(B) of the Social Security Act and receive funds under the Health Center Program (Section 330 of the Public Health Service Act).
 - Community Health Centers serve a variety of underserved populations and areas.
 - Migrant Health Centers serve migrant and seasonal agricultural workers
 - Healthcare for the Homeless Programs reach out to homeless individuals and families and provide primary care and substance abuse services.
 - Public Housing Primary Care Programs serve residents of public housing and are located in or adjacent to the communities they serve.

- Federally Qualified Health Center Look-Alikes are health centers that have been identified by HRSA and certified by the Centers for Medicare and Medicaid Services as meeting the definition of “health center” under Section 330 of the PHS Act, although they do not receive grant funding under Section 330.
