Outpatient

• Outpatient: Outpatient (OP) programs typically require regular counseling services at a clinic or facility and allow clients to return to their homes or other living arrangements during non-treatment hours.

• Medication-Assisted Treatment: Medication-Assisted Treatment (MAT) combines behavioral therapy and medications to treat substance use disorders.

• Intensive Outpatient: Intensive Outpatient (IOP) programs typically provide participants with a minimum of nine hours for adults and six hours for adolescents. An IOP may be structured for individual and/or group services and activities, according to an individualized treatment plan.

• Opioid Treatment Programs: Opioid Treatment Programs (OTPs) offer treatment for people diagnosed with an opioid-use disorder using the medication methadone or other FDA approved medications. The State of New Hampshire works closely with OTPs, but does not contract with them to provide services.

Residential

• Low Intensity: Low-Intensity (LI) residential treatment is designed to prepare clients to become self-sufficient in the community. Services include at least five hours of clinical services per week. Adult residents typically work in the community and may pay a portion of their room and board.

• High Intensity: High-Intensity (HI) residential treatment is designed to assist individuals who require a more intensive level of service in a structured setting including individual and/or group counseling, educational sessions, psychiatric, medical and medication management, as needed.

• Pregnant & Parenting Women: Pregnant & Parenting Women (PPW) treatment is specifically designed for expectant and parenting women with residential facilities that have been developed using a family-centered approach, and many times allow mothers to care for their young children on-site.

• Withdrawal Management: Residential Withdrawal Management (WM) is designed for clients who require 24-hour monitoring of their withdrawal symptoms, a structured, safe environment, and ongoing clinical and/or medical supervision. The length of stay is determined by an individual’s needs and the severity of his or her withdrawal symptoms.

• Residential Withdrawal Management: Outpatient Withdrawal Management (OWM) is often provided by a physician’s office, substance use disorder treatment facility, or by home health care agency. Although the service is medically supervised, clients are permitted to return to their homes or other living arrangements during non-treatment hours. It is important that clients are motivated for treatment and have adequate in-home and community supports.

• Partial Hospitalization: Partial hospitalization (PH) is a combination of 20 or more hours per week of group and individual sessions in conjunction with medical and psychiatric services, psychopharmacological services, medication-assisted treatment, and recovery support services.

• Residential Medication-Assisted Treatment: Residential Medication-Assisted Treatment (RMAT) combines behavioral therapy and medications to treat substance use disorders in a supervised clinical facility.

• Specialty Open Doors Program: The Open Doors Program (SPOD) provides a range of services – including residential treatment services, outpatient treatment with supportive housing services, outpatient treatment with housing stabilization services, weekly individual or group counseling, case management and wrap-around services – to assist families reduce and remove barriers preventing them from fully participating in the work force and in the larger community.

• Transitional Living Services: Transitional Living Services provide residential substance use disorder treatment services according to an individualized treatment plan designed to support individuals as they transition back into the community. Transitional Living services must include at least three (3) hours of clinical services per week. The maximum length of stay in this service is six (6) months. Adult residents typically work in the community and may pay a portion of their room and board.
